

ADULT EDUCATION
AND ACTIVITIES
SPRING 2007

Unitarian Universalist Church of Rockville
100 Welsh Park Drive
Rockville, MD 20850

REGISTRATION

Through the activities described in this pamphlet, UUCR offers a variety of programs to meet the intellectual, spiritual, emotional, community, and fun needs of our members, friends, and guests. We hope you'll join us at these programs.

Registration is ongoing throughout the year. There are five ways to register.

1. Find the sheets on the Lifespan Ed bulletin board in the lobby near Founders Hall.
2. Find the Adult RE sign-up table in the lobby on Sunday morning.
3. Call the church office and leave your name, phone, and program title and date.
4. Fill out the enclosed form and return to UUCR.
5. Find the registration form on the website.

Would you like to be a part of the Adult RE Committee?

It takes a group to coordinate and publicize these programs. As you look through this booklet, you'll find a wide variety of programs and resources offered for any interest—including spiritual needs, personal growth, and social justice. You can help make this happen by joining our Adult RE Committee. Talk to any of the members listed.

The Unitarian Universalist Church of Rockville provides a liberal religious home in Montgomery County, welcoming all who share our journey to seek truth, meaning, fellowship, and wholeness with open hearts and minds. Using Unitarian Universalist values as our guide, we strive to

- Nurture intellectual, spiritual, and creative growth,
- Transform belief into action,
- Inspire insight and a sense of wonder through worship and religious education,
- Engage in social justice, community service, and global outreach.

PROGRAMS

Discussion Course on World Religions

Reverend Lynn Strauss will lead this reflection on the major faiths of today. There may be some reading recommended. Recommended books are The World Religions by Huston Smith and any books by Karen Armstrong.

Please come and participate even if you haven't done the readings. There will be no final test.

Dates /Topics:

Wednesday, January 10, "On Judaism"

Wednesday, January 31, "On Buddhism"

Wednesday, February 7, "On Christianity"

Wednesday, February 21, "On Islam"

Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.

Leader: Rev. Lynn Strauss

Articulating Your Unitarian Universalist Faith

Beth Irikura leads this creative three-session course. Participants will be guided through a series of easy and engaging exercises that equip them to discover and articulate their beliefs, including personal reflection, role-play, and discussion. Perfect for anyone who has tried to explain Unitarian Universalism to others and would like to do so more effectively. Childcare available.

Dates: Three Sundays, January 14, 28, February 4

Times: 11:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.

Leader: Beth Irikura

Answering Your Child's Religious Questions

Learn about resources, practice answering religious questions and initiating conversations about religion with your child. For parents with children of all ages. Childcare available.

Date: Sunday, January 21
Time: 11:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.
Leader: Deborah Kahn, Director of Religious Education

Path to Membership

These programs offer newcomers the opportunity to discover what Unitarian Universalism and the Unitarian Universalist Church of Rockville are all about. The March 18 program will include a luncheon. Childcare available.

Dates: Three Sundays, March 4, 11, 18
Time: 11:30 a.m.–12:30 p.m.
Leaders: Beth Irikura and Phyllis Childers, Membership Committee

Energy to Renew Our Lives

The Vernal Equinox and the coming of spring have been celebrated by humans for thousands of years as a time of renewal, energy, planting, and growth. Participants will consider some of the meanings and celebrations of the Vernal Equinox in human cultures and will also consider the sources from which they draw energy to renew their lives.

Date: March 21
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Leader: Deborah Kahn, Director of Religious Education

Soul Work

“After reading and participating in a discussion of Soul Work at my church, I felt hopeful, for the first time, that we can become more inclusive, more understanding of one another, and make real changes.” This response from a colleague made leader Deborah Kahn want to offer a discussion about Soul Work at UUCR. Participants are asked to commit to reading Soul Work. (Discounts are available to groups.) A review of the book states, “This is one of the most compelling and transformative books that I have ever read. I can’t imagine anyone reading it without experiencing profound insights, on both the personal, spiritual level and the communal, religious level.” In addition to discussing the book, participants will discuss the meaning of “soul work,” “growing a soul,” and the place of spiritual work in social justice.

Dates: April 18, 25, May 2
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Leader: Deborah Kahn, Director of Religious Education

Introduction to Meditation

This evening will be an introduction to meditation for anyone: whether you are an experienced or a novice meditator. We will focus on mindfulness and our breathing. There will be several short pertinent readings and several short periods of group sitting meditation. All are welcome.

Date: May 16
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Leader: Celia Young

ONGOING GROUPS

Meditation

Begin Sunday mornings with spiritual enrichment with group mediation prior to the service.

Date: Weekly on Sundays
Time: 9:15 a.m.–9:45 a.m.
Place: Room 44

Small Group Ministries Program

Join a circle of eight to ten that creates safe space to talk and listen with one another and to explore deep spiritual questions. Each group meets once or twice a month and is led by a trained facilitator. Topics explored include: forgiveness, friendship, living through loss, the mystery of healing, service, joy, taking a stand, and what we love. Join a SGM group to make friends, connect to the congregation, deepen your spiritual search, and create community.

Call: Reverend Lynn Strauss, 301-762-7666
Virginia LaMarche, 301-762-7872
Jane Klag, 301-476-7470

Women's Spirituality Group

The Women's Spirituality Group deals with whatever topics are important to the group. Participants delve into the connection with their deepest self and personhood, exploring the unformed that is forming, and sharing spiritual paths. Participants' creativity, work, words, ideas, and self join in the spirit of life with each other.

Date: Monthly, first and third Saturday
Time: 11 a.m.–1 p.m.
Leader: Jewell Golden, 301-762-6360

New Spirituality Groups

New men's spirituality groups and/or a new woman's spirituality group can be started as needed. Contact Rev. Lynn Strauss or RE Director Deborah Kahn, both at 301-762-7666

Family Support Group

The family support group is an ongoing, peer led group of members and friends of the UUCR community who are dealing with issues related to caregiving, bereavement and other loss.

Dates: Second and fourth Thursdays of the month (except holidays)
Time: 2:00 pm
Location: Room 44

Day Laborers in Our Community—Our Religious Response

Many of us have noticed the large number of mostly-immigrant Latino men that seem to be always looking for work on the streets of Gaithersburg and elsewhere. They are known as "day laborers." The mayor, council and some churches in Gaithersburg are trying to agree on a way for these workers to safely continue to seek work. Casa de Maryland is a major voice for day laborers in Maryland, and they have been a leading voice in the recent activities in our neighboring community. Come hear Marino Cordoba, labor organizer for Casa, talk about who the workers are, why they seek work in the way that they do, and what are the best ways of accommodating their needs.

Date: January 24
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Marino Cordoba, Labor Organizer for Casa de Maryland

The Beginning of the End of the Death Penalty

People are often not aware that Maryland has a death penalty, but it does! Since executions resumed in 1978, five men have been executed in Maryland, two under the auspices of Governor Ehrlich. Former Governor Glendening had placed a moratorium on executions due to concerns of racial bias, and he commissioned a comprehensive state study of the issue. The results of the study will be discussed. Mayor Martin O'Malley, now governor, has made his opposition to the death penalty very clear; many hope that he will put another moratorium in place. Several death penalty issues currently in front of Maryland's highest court will be briefly commented on. A few minutes will be spent at the beginning of the talk on the international and national situation regarding the death penalty, in order to put the Maryland information in perspective. Questions will be welcome and ways to get involved to help change Maryland's law will be presented. With a new governor and legislature, Maryland could be at the beginning of the end of the death penalty in Maryland.

Date: February 28
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Cathy Knepper joined Amnesty International USA in 1977 and has been actively working against the death penalty since 1983 when she joined the Amnesty International group that meets at UUCR. She is a historian and author of Greenbelt, Maryland, A Living Legacy of the New Deal, published in 2001, and Dear Mrs. Roosevelt, published in 2004, and now out in paperback.

Middle East Peace: A Real Possibility

Peace is the hope, the desire, and the aspiration of every Arab and Israeli in the Middle East. Hate, fear, and distrust between the Arabs and Israelis stand in the way of a comprehensive and lasting peace. Peace is imperative. Peace is possible, and Syria is considered a key to a comprehensive peace.

Professor Ibrahim Soliman, a U.S. citizen since 1968, has maintained close ties to his Syrian family and nation. Since retiring from careers in academia and business in 1991, he has devoted himself to quiet efforts aimed at bridging the gap between the United States and Syria and exploring the possibility of Syrian-Israeli peace.

Date: March 7
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Professor Ibrahim Soliman

State of the Chesapeake Bay

This program comes to us from the Chesapeake Bay Foundation (CBF), an organization whose goal is to reduce pollution from sewage treatment facilities and other industrial sources, agriculture runoff, urban and suburban storm water, and air omissions. Learn about the current condition of the Bay and its streams and rivers, its vital signs and how much of an impact people have on it. This wondrous natural resource has been greatly abused in past years. CBF's vision for the future is a restored Bay with healthy rivers and clean water, sustainable populations of crabs, fish, and oysters, thriving water-based and agricultural economies, all of which will provide a legacy of success for our children. Come and discover what citizens can do to protect and restore the Bay.

Date: March 14

Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.

Speaker: Carolyn Ricketts' interest in the Chesapeake Bay began with the many childhood summers she spent there. As an adult, she has watched the effects of pollution on local waterways, particularly the Bay. She now devotes time to help local organizations restore the Bay and preserve what we have left of our natural resources.

Building Bridges: Communicating Across the Israeli-Palestinian Divide

The ongoing conflict between the Palestinians and the Israelis is an issue that most Americans know only from sporadic, often superficial news stories, largely portraying what seems like mindless violence and intransigent religion. However, the history that evolved into today's crisis is complex and compelling on both sides of the divide, and the stories of the people who struggle to cross it often go untold. In April, UUCR member Pam Rasmussen is traveling to Jerusalem and the West Bank with Global Exchange, an international human rights organization dedicated to promoting social, economic, and environmental justice around the world. She will stay with families and peace-seeking organizations on both sides, and will report back on her experiences and what she learned from this experience.

Date: May 9

Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.

Speaker: Pam Rasmussen

Conversations on Darfur

Alonzo Smith will be leading a group discussion on the current humanitarian crisis in the Sudan. Alonzo will give a brief background on the history and culture of the Sudan, as well as a brief attempt to analyze the current conflict. This will be followed by an update on recent developments, as well as an update of recent UU initiatives on Darfur. Finally, Alonzo will lead a discussion about what the members of UUCR can do about this terrible situation.

Date: May 23
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Alonzo Smith

FIRST FRIDAY FREEDOM FILM SERIES

The series features films that focus on social consciousness and are not readily available for viewing elsewhere. The films start at 7:30 p.m. and are followed by a discussion.

January 5

Why We Fight (98 minutes)

Is American foreign policy dominated by the idea of military supremacy? Has the military become too important in American life? Eugene Jarecki's shrewd and intelligent polemic would seem to give an affirmative answer to each of these questions.

February 2

American Blackout (84 minutes)

Winner: Special Jury Prize, 2006 Sundance Film Festival. Many have heard of the alleged voting irregularities that occurred during the presidential elections of 2000 and 2004. Until now, these incidents have gone under-reported and are commonly written off as insignificant rumors or unintentional mishaps resulting from an overburdened election system.

American Blackout chronicles the recurring patterns of voter disenfranchisement from Florida 2000 to Ohio 2004, while following the story of Georgia Congresswoman Cynthia McKinney. McKinney not only took an active role investigating these election debacles, but has found herself in the middle of her own after publicly questioning the Bush Administration about the 9/11 terrorist attacks.

March 2

Sir, No Sir (80 minutes)

Risk, passion, and rage are the pillars of the GI antiwar movement that echo through this powerful documentary about the soldiers and veterans who worked to bring a message of peace to the public eye. Through interviews and extraordinary use of archival footage from the Vietnam era, director David Zeiger weaves together the engrossing tale of this overlooked moment in time. From mutiny and underground presses in the war zone to full scale-protests at home, this collective portrait of the GI movement illustrates a forgotten story of dissent and commitment to peace.

April 6

The Ground Truth: The Human Cost of War (90 minutes)

Hailed as "powerful" and "quietly unflinching," Patricia Foulkrod's searing documentary feature includes exclusive footage that will stir audiences. The filmmaker's subjects are patriotic young Americans—ordinary men and women who heeded the call for military service in Iraq—as they experience recruitment and training, combat, homecoming, and the struggle to reintegrate with families and communities. The terrible conflict in Iraq, depicted with ferocious honesty in the film, is a prelude for the even more challenging battles fought by the soldiers returning home—with personal demons, an uncomprehending public, and an indifferent government. As these battles take shape, each soldier becomes a new kind of hero, bearing witness and giving support to other veterans, and learning to fearlessly wield the most powerful weapon of all—the truth.

May 4

Reel Bad Arabs (82 minutes)

This groundbreaking documentary dissects a slanderous aspect of cinematic history that has run virtually unchallenged from the earliest days of silent film to today's biggest Hollywood blockbusters. Featuring acclaimed author Dr. Jack Shaheen, the film explores a long line of degrading images of Arabs—from Bedouin bandits and submissive maidens to sinister sheikhs and gun-wielding "terrorists"—along the way offering devastating insights into the origin of these stereotypic images, their development at key points in U.S. history, and why they matter so much today. Shaheen shows how the persistence of these images has served to naturalize prejudicial attitudes toward Arabs and Arab culture, in the process reinforcing a narrow view of individual Arabs and the effects of specific U.S. domestic and international policies on their lives.

Drum Circle

Are you energized when listening to upbeat music? Well, here is your chance to create up-tempo music with drums. No prior experience is required, but all levels of musical background are welcome.

Participants will explore some simple rhythms together with various percussion instruments and then have an open-drum session in which there will be more freedom to improvise if you wish or stick to the rhythms you've learned if you prefer. Instruments are provided but if you have a drum, feel free to bring it. Come and get energized. This may be the first of many monthly drum circles!

Date: January 3
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Maryanne Burgos and Steve Einhorn

The Glen Echoes

The popular Glen Echoes make a return visit with their blend of humor and close harmony. Listen to a delightful show and also learn a bit about quartet singing and the barbershop form in particular. The Glen Echoes CD will be available.

Date: January 17
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Artists: The Glen Echoes

My Funny Valentine

Love can be found in both music and humor. Celebrate Valentine's Day together by listening to wonderfully comical, absurd and whimsical songs of love to tickle your funny bone! Come enjoy the most hilarious musical selections ever recorded—Victor Borge, Spike Jones, Groucho Marx, Johnny Cash, Perry Como, Stan Freeberg, and many more jokers. And don't forget to bring your funny love poems to read aloud.

Date: February 14
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Irv Chamberlain

This and My Heart Beside: A Visit with Emily Dickinson

A solo dramatic monologue written and performed by Candace Ridington, who appears in nineteenth-century attire as she plays the part of poet Emily Dickinson. Share in the poet's thoughts and feelings, joys and sorrows, learn about her family, and hear her recite some poems, all with warmth, wit, and humor.

Date: March 28
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Candace Ridington has taught literature at Susquehanna University and the University of Alabama at Birmingham. She is the author of Rubicon, a novel portraying the love affair between the poet's brother, Austin Dickinson, and Mabel Todd, who first published Emily's poems. Copies will be available at the performance. Candace lives in Bethesda.

An Evening with Thoreau

Come hear about the life of Henry David Thoreau, his upbringing, family situation and the independent streak that caused him to spend two years and two months of his life residing in a hut of his own construction on the shores of Walden Pond. His most noted literary work, Walden, speaks to that life but makes most think that he must have been some sort of a recluse. However, his life was much more complex than that. He was peripatetic by nature and participated in many far-flung excursions, sometimes alone and sometimes with friends, including Ellery Channing. Included were trips to the Berkshires of western Massachusetts, the Maine woods, the White Mountains of New Hampshire, more than one trip to Cape Cod, a trip to Canada, exploration of the Merrimack and Concord Rivers, and his longest trip of all, to Minnesota. Interspersed amongst his travels were periodic lecture engagements, mostly throughout New England. The presentation will include readings, examples of books by and about him, and an opportunity for feedback by attendees to reflect upon their own life experiences that may have been influenced by this unique individual.

Date: April 11
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Charles Burroughs

Grey Whale Migration, Baha, Mexico

Come join us in Baja, Mexico for the grey whale migration. We'll explore the desert, see four types of whales (some way up close and personal), and learn a bit about the incredible migration of the grey whales to and from their Arctic wintering grounds.

Date: April 4
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Sharrill Dittmann

Stories from Rockville's Underground Railroad

Josiah Henson (the model for the title character of Uncle Tom's Cabin) risked all for freedom and his autobiography inspired Harriet Beecher Stowe. Find out about the young Ann Maria Weems, who escaped slavery in Rockville dressed as a coachman and whose story vividly illustrates the twists and turns of ongoing research on the Underground Railroad. Learn about two sisters from a prominent Rockville family who exemplify the differences between slave holders. Maude McGovern, of Peerless Rockville Historic Preservation, Ltd., will use pictures of local homes and churches as well as copies of runaway slave ads and other documents to illustrate a talk that explores some of the many aspects of slavery and escape in Rockville.

Date: May 30
Time: 7:30 p.m.–9:00 p.m.
Speaker: Maude McGovern
